

Admiral launched Tremenda, a 38-metre superyacht

By Silvia Mondello

Admiral recently launched its new 38-metre yacht called Tremenda at its facilities in Marina di Carrara. She was the third superyacht launched by the shipyard in the month of April, alongside with the 55-metre Quinta Essentia and the 50-metre Ouranos. Tremenda is the third vessel in the Impero series; Cacos V was delivered in 2013 and Nono in 2014.

Her exterior was designed by renowned naval architect Luca Dini, while her interior layout was designed by Gian Marco

Campanino and the Admiral Centro Stile.

It features one full beam master suite, located forward on the main deck. Side seascape windows offer generous sea views. On the lower deck are four guest cabins, two VIP and two double, each provided with their own en-suite bathroom. The main saloon and dining area are completely surrounded by glass, helping to maximise natural light. A large sundeck, a bow lounge and a spacious beach club are also to be found on Tremenda. From the beach club one can reach the full beam garage, which features a side opening hullport for hauling and launching the main tender. Entirely built in aluminium, the superyacht reaches a top speed of over 20 knots. The shallow draft was a requirement of the owner who plans to cruise the Caribbean, after touring the Mediterranean.
