

Admiral signs build of new 63m flagship superyacht

Developed together with an experienced owner, Italian yachting brand Admiral have announced the signing of a 63 metre new build project. To be built at the Italian Sea Group's facility in Marina di Carrara near La Spezia, the sale of the project was managed by Alex Banning from SuperYachtsMonaco and is scheduled to be completed in 2019.

The project is a reflection of the owner's love of Italian flair and style, and is a result of a year of planning and development with Admiral having been chosen as the shipyard to realise the owner's vision. Superyacht Technical Services and the owner's team along with the shipyard together created a superyacht that will be custom-built to a high pedigree using in-house resources.

Group's CEO Giuseppe Taranto comments "We are proud for the sale of this outstanding yacht in the same period in which we are launching three brand new Admiral yachts of 55m, 50m and 38m. We look forward to yet another quality and on time delivery. To win the contract with such an experienced and influential client is testament to Admiral as a brand and shipyard of high standards now and into the future".
