The Italian Sea Group shipyard launched the first yacht of the year on March 24. The 55-metre E Motion hybrid yacht Quinta Essentia is the biggest yacht ever built by Admiral Yachts.

Quinta Essentia features an exterior design, which enhances the brand's elegance, and it also revisits Admiral's classical style with a new look. Quinta Essentia is a hybrid propulsion yacht with a displacement hull, built in aluminium to minimise draft and weights. The result is an extremely efficient yacht, with low fuel consumption, low noise levels and vibration under way.

The yacht was built for a very experienced owner, who owned many worldwide renowned yachts in the past.

The Admiral E Motion 55 offers an advanced hybrid propulsion system which integrates two traditional engines with two electric motors, also connected to variable speed generators. The system also boasts a traditional transmission with two shafts. The entire propulsion system and the whole build technique guarantee the most silent, safest and incredibly efficient navigation on board this new superb yacht.

The 55m yacht will be showcased at the Monaco yacht Show in September 2016, along with Admiral Yachts C-Force 50.
