

QUINTA ESSENTIA: A NEW LUXURIOUS HYBRID SUPERYACHT

March 25, 2016 by Nicolas Saugnac

The Italian Sea Group launched a few days ago their latest superyacht, Quinta Essentia. At 55m she is the largest yacht ever built by the yard in Tuscany.

Her very characteristic exterior comes from the drawing board of Dobroserdov Design from Monaco. What really set this yacht apart from other yachts the same size is the hybrid propulsion system. The yacht integrate two conventional diesel engines and two electrical engines connected to variable speed generators. Guests and owners can now enjoy true silence when cruising and know that the energy propelling them is by far cleaner than the other yachts.

The interior design comes from Michela Reverberi Studio, accommodations 12 guests in 6 large staterooms, including a wide owner's suite on the main deck and a VIP cabin featuring a 180° view over the sea. The cabins down below can be converted in two cabins, larger than the original two, for longer charter or special guests.

The yacht was developed for a very experience yachtsman and the naval architectures comes from the famous Vripack. She is powered by a pair of MAN engines, reaching a top speed of 16,5 knots and an amazing range of 6,500 nm at 9,5 knots.
