

Third Admiral leaves the shed

Admiral, the motoryacht brand of The Italian Sea Group, has launched Tremenda, a 38m (124 ft) motoryacht. She is the third superyacht built of the successful “Impero” series.

Entirely built in aluminium, Tremenda has been designed and equipped to reach a top speed of over 20 knots, the shipyard claims. She also features a shallow draft for Caribbean cruises. This was one of the requirements the owner had in mind when he started the project.

The shipyard reveals that Tremenda will be used by the owner and his family on a private basis, initially in the Med and then in the Caribbean and US waters.

Tremenda touched the water on Friday 22nd April. The operation follows the launches of 55m Quinta Essentia and 50m Ouranos making three Admiral superyachts launched in a month.

The new motoryacht is the third in the Admiral Impero series and follows on from after ‘Cacos V’ delivered in 2013 and ‘NONO’ in 2014.
